Chapter 10 Personal Financial Planning

College and Career Readiness: Adaptability

Directions Choose a business in your community and describe how that business could adapt its products or services for another purpose. Explain your reasoning and describe how this could positively impact the business. For example, a local, high-end furniture company might retool the product line to make more affordable tables, chairs, and desks, and open a repair department.

Why is adaptability an important skill for a business owner to have?
