

Chapter 9 Technology and Business

Section 9.1 The History of Technology

Reading Activity—Draw Conclusions

Directions Read the paragraph. As you read, think about how your future employment might be affected by the things that are mentioned. Then re-read each sentence and draw some conclusions about the impact on your future as a job applicant and/or member of the workforce. For convenience, each sentence appears in the table below. Write your conclusions in the right column of the table.

Technology has created a boom in many industries. New markets have opened for products such as printers, fax machines, video games, and cell phones. New products are constantly being invented, developed, and manufactured. Innovation means more jobs and more people learning new skills. Technology allows people to work easier and faster.

Sentence	Conclusion
1. Technology has created a boom in many industries.
2. New markets have opened for products such as printers, fax machines, video games, and cell phones.
3. New products are constantly being invented, developed, and manufactured.
4. Innovation means more jobs and more people learning new skills.
5. Technology allows people to work easier and faster.	